About Project One Health

Project One Health is Kerala's pioneering initiative dedicated to advancing the integrated vision of human, animal, and environmental health. As one of the earliest start-ups in Kerala exclusively focused on the One Health concept, it bridges disciplines and communities to address global health challenges through education, research, consultancy, and innovation. The organization empowers students, professionals, and institutions through capacity building, research linkages, technical solutions, and One Health tourism. Its flagship Student Ambassadorship and Internship Programmes have nurtured young leaders from India, Africa, and beyond, offering international exposure, hands-on experience, and opportunities to lead awareness campaigns, conferences, and outreach programmes. Project One Health is formally incorporated under the Government of India, Ministry of Corporate Affairs, and is registered under Startup India and Startup Kerala Mission, reinforcing its credibility, entrepreneurial spirit, and commitment to sustainable impact at both national and state levels.

In addition to its academic and outreach initiatives, Project One Health is actively engaged in ecosystem restoration through the conservation of indigenous plants, zoonoses prevention and modeling using advanced research tools, and the Voice for One Health skill development programme that equips youth and professionals with practical competencies. The organization also leads community-based interventions for waterborne disease prevention and promotes One Health awareness through students, ensuring that the next generation becomes ambassadors of sustainability and global well-being. By blending academic excellence with cultural experiences such as Kerala's tourism and heritage, Project One Health continues to inspire changemakers dedicated to building a healthier, more resilient future.
